DEFENDANTS SCORE IN GETHSEMANE FIGHT

Court Dismisses Rule in Case of Household of Ruth, No. 186, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows.

A partial victory was won yesterday in District Supreme Court by the defend-ants in the suit filed by twenty-seven members of the Gethsemane Household of Ruth, No. 186, of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of the District of Columbia, against a host of other mem bers of the colored organization. The court dismissed the rule compellin the defendants to show cause why they should not be restrained by the court from disposing of any of the property of the organization pending the outcome of the litigation. The court now has be-fore it the question of ordering the legal members of the lodge to take a vote on members of the lodge to take a vote on whether they shall pay to the subcommittee on management the sum required to restore the lodge to a place of good standing in the Grand Order.

The feud is a bitter one. At a meeting in May, 1914, Mary L. Barber was supposedly elected as delegate to a Boston convention by a vote of £ to £. Roxie Burrell, one of the defendants, says that on questioning those who voted she found twenty-seven persons who had cast their ballots for her.

their ballots for her.

Consequently the organization formally decided not to send a delegate to Boston. Mary L. Barber went to the convention regardless, of this action, and when she returned she handed in her bill. The lodge would not honor it and as a result was expelled from the order. Court proceedings then were instituted.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorness and a steelight-of-hand performance by Andrew Engle. One of the most amusing numbers was an imitation of a German professor by Charles E. Stevens.

Tomorrow morning the relly meeting of the Stevenson Bible Class will be held at 10 o'clock in the American Theater.

An address will be made by W. W. Jermany W. C. Martin and John Ridout, and the defendant's attorney is Walter P. Love, of Richmond, Va., will preach at 10 clocks and the Eastern Biar auxiliaries. Further than the fair will be the award of a principle of the fair will be the award of a principle.
